

Persuasive pitch

By PageSix.com Staff

October 29, 2009 | 4:00am

Photo: cbs

“48 HOURS” producers take note: The best way to get the wealthy to part with cash is not blackmail, but kindness. “48 Hour Mystery” correspondent Erin Moriarty was chatting with New York art dealer Michael Altman during a recent flight from Texas. Moriarty mentioned her work with the charity Skip, which helps chronically ill and disabled children. Altman was so moved, he sent a check for $10,000 to add to the proceeds from last night’s Skip gala at Gotham Hall.